FOREWORDS how it all came to this

First of all, I never thought this thing would ever be this popular. After deleting the morons that just sent duplicates and didn't confirm their emails, I got a little shy of five thousand voters, and over ninetyfive thousand suggested songs. I think that is kinda nice for absolutely zero budget. Not even one advertising link was put anywhere.

It all started when I just got bored one night while playing GH1 on my PlayStation 2, and there I was one song (Cowboys From Hell by Pantera) away from getting the "Battle axe" ( the "trophy"-guitar that you get when you have beat the game). Then I went online and headed to the official Guitar Hero forums to get some tips how to beat it and saw literally hundreds of and hundreds of lists of "I want this and this and this song to Guitar Hero II". I live in Finland (a small country in Northern-Europe between Sweden and Russia), and I wasn't even aware of that the Guitar Hero II was coming, eventhough I got GH1 first day it was released here, which was roughly five months after its release in the USA.

Then I thought, damn, that is really stupid. There would be really much more sense, if you would centralize the action and gather a huge list instead of posting useless lists on some messageboards that nobody will ever read. The chance of the gamedevelopers to read the list is pretty much zero.

After a small research I also found out that the final songlist of the GH2 was set and it could not be affected, so then I thought, that I have so much free time and some extra cash for stamps and an envelope, so I decided to make a system to let people vote songs to GH3 (which everyone knew that would come in a name or another, eventhough it was not announced yet), that would come to a list that I would send to the developers directly.

I coded a really simple PHP- and SQL-system, that would allow people to send their 50 song lists, having only artist and song name and who voted in the database. But then I thought, damn, those americans can't even spell "Led Zeppelin" right. No offense, but in the final list there was 27 variations of LZ, most from which common was "Led Zepplin", which was 12% of them all... But majority (85%) was typed correctly, but don't let me get to Lynyrd Skynyrd or Ozzy Osbourne....

OK, I had to think of some backup plan. Then I had to make small admin-panel kind of thing that would easily allow me to rename the artists without losing the original name if I messed up. So I made an another two fields that were called "artist_az" and "song_az". These were basically the same, but they had the names without any special characters and spaces, so Guns N' Roses – It's so easy turned into "gunsnroses" and "itssoeasy". When I just renamed those to mach the majority of the titles, it was really peace of cake.

I also made small and clear rules to not same band twice or more to prevent "I want the whole Metallica discography in the game" -effect and disallowed the use "The band" form of the name, just "band" to make the the counting easier. Many people didn't seem to understand this rule, so that is why eg. "The Eagles" had huge jumps up everytime when I removed The's from the lists. After few weeks of the publishing I set the goal to 500 voters or by the time GH2 was published, but in the end it was pushed up to 5000 after it became awfully popular.

Now here are (hopefully) the most intresting parts of the poll-research. Hopefully You like it. PS: I finally beat Cowboys from Hell on December 14th and Freebird on December 25th on expert

TIMESPAN votes and days

What I realized was that most people started out with a bang and typed the whole 50 artist song or they just typed in 1-25 names and then got bored and just sent the list. Some entries were deleted because they got in the GH2 (mostly Sweet Child O' Mine), thats why there are so many 49 lists.

Graph of votes per count

The graph below is from the time when I thought the list was done and then I published it on September 8th until I closed the list. After three weeks it was recognized on wikipedia at "Guitar Hero III" page, but after October 1st it had huge leap in the lists-per-day -statistics. Before that it was rational 4-17 per day, but after that it has not been below 20 a single time. Even though it was unofficial, it was linked on multiple blogs, Guitar Hero related news and such. The highest peak was reached on December 3rd with 99 lists per day. I got the GH2, played it to the fullest and closed down the voting form on December 11th to compile the list and send it to the developers, Harmonix and RedOctane.

Votes per day (color swich indicates a month, top peak is 99)

LIST OF BANDS in general

After major removals and regroupings bands (mainly duplicates, mistypes, unconfirmed lists, same lists from the same IP or clear spams, etc), there total of 95204* songs suggested, 5093* different bands suggested and from the total there was 11360* songs (11.93%) that we're marked "any song from that band is ok".

As you can guess, the majority were bands had been suggested only by one person, which there was total of 2740 bands. That makes 53% of all the results, so I will not list them here. There was also 1248 bands that had 2-5 votes each which equals small visibility making about 24% of the total, and also totally way too much of the space in the text for them all to be listed here. As you can understand, the higher we rise, the less we get the results. There was only 631 bands that had 6-25 votes. That is 13% of the list and almost the size of a small club audience, but I find it still too small crowd to please the majority of the people.

I will list the 176 bands on the next page, that cover the 3% of the list that had 26-49 votes, but I think I'll just save pages list only those with 50 votes and over with their most wanted songs. Here are the statistics of the artists with with bands with low votecount

MOST VOTED BANDS top 100

As you can see, after the favourites there is a huge drop in the results and after that stay pretty even. For example between #50 and #100 was 300 votes, when between #100 #150 was only 60 votes. But then there was bands like Ozzy Osbourne and Chuck Berry that got 95% of their votes for one song (in Ozzys case it was Crazy Train and Johnny B Goode with Chuck Berry)

MY PERSONAL PICKS

This is what I would really want myself to play. My record collection mainly focuses on heavier part of rock and metal, so its bit turned to that side, but I can't help it. Of course I would want something blues/jazz/other, but if any of these are in the game I am pleased. The list is in alphabetical order by the artist

- A Perfect Circle – Judith/The Hollow/Weak And Powerless/Pet: Maynard James Keenan just has a wonderful voice
- Anouk – Nobodys Wife: This song by the Dutch singer was huge hit in Europe back in 1996-1997. I didn't even remember how cool it was until I listened to it one day, it even had a nice solo.
- Black Sabbath – Paranoid: In Finland we have this shout called "Soittakaa Paranoid" which equals people shouting "Freebird"
- Blue Oyster Cult – Don't Fear The Reaper: Make a bonus just for this song: After you have beaten the song on all difficulties in the career mode, you get an extra option to the multiplayer mode, that you can play cowbell on this song. We have all seen the clip on youtube, haven't we? :) Optionally, you could buy the cowbell for $500 at the store and you could use it on other songs too (Welcome to the Jungle Anyone)
- Bon Jovi – You Give Love a Bad Name/Runaway/Livin' On A Prayer/Keep the Faith: Nobody really admits that they dig Bon Jovi, but they still own their records. And They have done some really good songs way back 10-15 years ago
- Children of Bodom – Needled 24-7/Everytime I Die/*anything else*: The hottest thing that comes from Finland currently
- Chimaira – Down Again/Powertrip/Nothing Remains: One of the first bands that stopped being numetal and became NWOAHM
- Cradle of Filth – Mannequin: Many people have complained how there are no bands enough true, grim & necro. This would fix that, eventho its the more melodic side of CoF.
- Devin Townsend Band – Vampira/Earth/Bad Devil: Devin Townsend is the mad scientist: Vampira has maybe the craziest musicvideo of 2006, Earth Day is maybe the most epic song of 2001 (length 9:35), Bad Devil is maybe the weirdest song of all times.
- Disco Ensemble – Dynamite Days/Zombies/Videotapes/Mantra/Skeleton Key/We Might Fall Apart/Black Euro/This is My Head Exploding/Drop Dead Casanova: Currently the hottest thing in hardcore that comes from Finland. Both albums are excellent
- Diablo – Symbol of Eternity/Lovedivided/Queen of Entity/Angel/Icon of Flesh/Damien: Diablo is maybe the next big thing that you will hear from Finland
- Dio – Holy Diver: A diver that has holes will leak and sink to the memory of everyone
- Dragonforce – Through the Fire and the Flames: Its not because the song itself would be that good, but its so over-played with speed (and skill none the less) and the 2 minute guitarsolo-tradeoff kills some of the showoffs, it makes it a must
- Faith No More – Epic/Digging the Grave: Epic is the only hit that my favourite band ever did, Digging the Grave would be good material for first tier
- Fear Factory – Archetype/Replica/Edgecrusher: You can still hear the industrial metal pioneers' touch in modern metal songs.
- Guns N' Roses – Welcome To The Jungle: If it wouldn't have been Sweet Child O' Mine in GH2, I would've picked this one
- In Flames – Trigger/Cloud Connected/Come Clarity/Take This Life: I found göteborg metal via this band
- Iron Maiden – The Trooper/Aces High/The Number of the Beast: Hey, It's Iron Maiden
- Jimi Hendrix – Voodoo Child (Slight Return)/Purple Haze/Fire/Hey Joe/All Along The Watchtower/Crosstown Traffic/Little Wing: Hey, It's Jimi Hendrix, the man who about invented the guitar distortion, flashy rock-stageshow and amazing guitarplaying. And if the singer must not sound like Jimi, Hey Joe would be the song because he didn't write the song.

- Joe Satriani – Why?: The Extremist is one of the only Joe Satriani albums that I like
- Killswitch Engage – Fixation on the Darkness/My Last Serenade/Rose of Sharyn/When Darkness Falls: Maybe the hottest name on the metal today
- Korn – Blind: The song that started the numetal-boom
- Lamb of God – Ruin/11th Hour/Redneck: Oh the riffs
- Led Zeppelin – Immigrant Song/Black Dog/Stairway to Heaven: Hey, it's Led Zeppelin
- Lenny Kravitz – Are You Gonna Go My Way/Always on the Run/Rock And Roll Is Dead/Again: The man who has maybe the best mainriffs. Also Again has one the most beautiful solos of all time
- Living Colour – Cult of Personality: Except this song has better mainriff than Lenny Kravitz
- Machine Head – Imperium/Old/Davidian: Imperium is the bomb, the best piece of modern metal ever made, Old and Davidian are the classics
- Metallica – Battery/Master of Puppets/One/Enter Sandman: Do I need to say more?
- Mindless Self Indulgence – Tornado/Shut Me Up/1989/Clarissa/London Bridge/I Hate Jimmy Page/Planet of the Apes: Weird hybrid of punk, industrial, breakbeats, electro and hiphop with really short songs. Use "I hate Jimmy Page" if you still don't get a license for a LZ song
- Mudvayne – Dig/Death Blooms/Not Falling/Happy?: Really wicked rhythms in those songs being numetal
- Mushroomhead – Sun Doesn't Rise: The band that sounds the most what Faith No More might have been today.
- Nirvana – Smells Like Teen Spirit: The most recognized rocksong of the '90s. You can't find better starter song
- Nine Inch Nails – Head Like A Hole/Mr. Self Destruct: Trent made industrial mainstream
- No Doubt – Just a Girl: You wanted girlpower, you got it here
- Ram Jam – Black Betty: Damn that is some sweet guitarwork there
- Raunchy – Join The Scene/Get What I See/Watch Out: The best thing that comes from Denmark after King Diamond
- Radiohead – Paranoid Android: Well, you have to feel the music sometimes
- Roadrunner United – The Dagger/The Enemy/In The Fire/Dawn Of A Golden Age/Constitution Down/No Mas Control: Roadrunner recordlabels ultimate lineups made these masterpieces
- Santana – Black Magic Woman: We have to have a little latin goin' on
- SikTh – Scent of Obscene/P*ssyfoot/How May I Help You/Such A Fool: They have maybe the weirdest rhythms in their riffs
- Slayer – Raining Blood/Angel of Death/War Ensemble/Dittohead: I've seen them live once and they are still the kings of thrash metal
- Slipknot – Vermillion/Duality: The Vol3 album blew my mind how the band evolved
- Steve Vai – Tender Surrender/In My Dreams With You/Still My Bleeding Heart: Nobody wants to play the metal songs all the time
- System of A Down – Suite-Pee/Sugar/Spiders/Toxicity/Chop Suey!/BYOB/RadioVideo/Cigaro/Kill Rock'n'Roll/Attack/Chic 'N' Stu/I-E-A-I-A-I-O/Innervision: The craziest mix of styles are available by this armenian-american group
- The Darkness – I Believe In A Thing Called Love: So what if they sound and look like Queen, they still rock
- Tool – Stinkfist/46&2/Aenema/Prison Sex/Sober/The Grudge/The Patient/Schism/Parabol-Parabola/Vicarious: If you don't know Tool, don't listen to the music you are listening now
- Waltari – Atmosfear/The Stage/Jänkhä/Feel!/Fools Gold/New York/Broken Bizarre: It's a shame almost nobody outside Germany and Finland doesn't know this crossover-pioneer even though its one of the most succeeded bands from Finland.Check out their album "Big Bang" (1995) if you are interested
- The Who – Pinball Wizard: You must have something from the 70's
